

Underline the past tense verbs in these sentences:

One day, a penguin turned up at the boy's door.

The penguin was looking sad and the boy decided to help him.

The boy was thinking about the penguin all night long.

The boy and the penguin packed everything in their boat and rowed south for many days and night.

Whilst the boy rowed, the penguin was listening to his stories.

They travelled on through weather good and bad until they reached the South Pole.

The boy was delighted but the penguin was looking sad again.

Challenge:

Finish off the story by writing past tense sentences using these verbs:

realised

searched

was sailing

hugged

