The setting of the Great Fire of London

The Great Fire of London started in Thomas Farriner's bakery. His bakery was on Pudding Lane in London. There were lots of houses close together and they were made out of wood.